REGULAR MEETING CONFEDERATE VETS

Sunday afternoon a number of the Confederate veterans, a few of the Sons and three ladies met at the city hall with the intention of taking steps towards making definite arrangements for the state reunion during the summer. However, on account of the small attendance, it was decided best to postpone action until the March meeting, when it is to be hoped that the condition of the weather will permit a better attendance.

It had been announced that Judge T. D. McKeown and Hon. S. G. Ashby would address the meeting. The former was unable to be present, but Mr. Ashby made an excellent talk. It is his idea that more attention should be given to securing a correct history of the civil war than has yet been written. He deplored the fact that most of the histories in common use are inclined to be hostile to the Southern cause. He concluded his remarks by urging everybody to get busy and be ready to help out in arranging for the reunion for with several hundred visitors from all parts of the state the reunion will give the town some fine advertising.

REGULAR TERM OF DISTRICT COURT

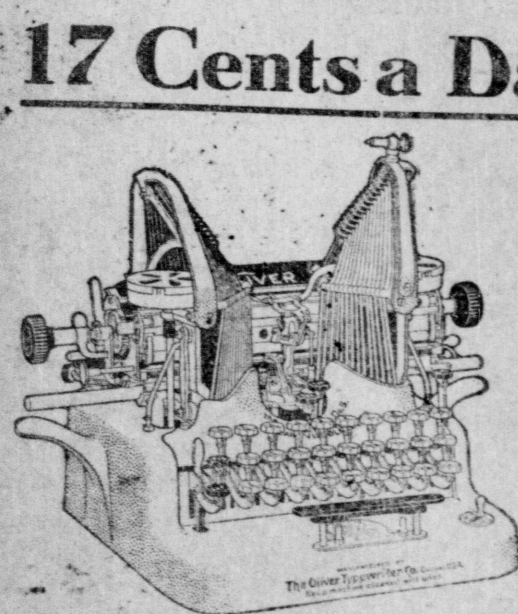

District court convened this morning for the February term, and took up the non-jury docket. Judge McKeown devoted the morning to hearing motions and pleadings, and this afternoon took up the suit of J. B. Akers vs. Henry and Liza Berry, where the title to a tract of land in the Seminole Nation is involved.

Big Jack Rabbit Drive.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 5.—One hundred and fifty gunners, carriers and drivers, armed with double-barrel shot guns, a ton of ammunition and pikes, will start for Marshall, Wash., early the morning of February 18, to participate in the first annual Jack rabbit shoot arranged by the Inland Empire Game Protection and Propagation association. John T. Little and J. S. Craig, who have been chosen captains of the teams, will station men along the right of way of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad, driving toward Cheney. The game bagged will be presented to the Salvation army. The gunner making the best individual score during the day will receive a medal, while the team scoring the least points is to entertain the victors at a banquet. It is purposed to continue the drives with the assistance of orchardists and farmers in the various districts until the intermountain country is cleared of rabbits, which have damaged crops for many years. The rabbit drive is to be followed soon by an organized battle against coyotes.

OKLAHOMA CITY SELLS FRANCHISE TO BEAUMONT

Houston, Tex., Feb. 5.—As a result of the meeting of the magnates of the Texas Baseball League here today the league is now an all-Texas affair, Oklahoma City having sold out to Beaumont. The franchise of the Galveston club was officially declared forfeited, and a committee of Galveston business men immediately bought back into the league and the meeting closed with all concerned apparently well satisfied.

President Wilbur Allen presided over the meeting and every team in the league was represented. An agreement was reached between the warring factions of the league from Oklahoma City, Beaumont and Galveston late Saturday afternoon after the entire day had been spent in resultless wrangling. Another meeting of the league has been called for next Friday at Houston to receive the report of the schedule committee, which consists of W. R. Davidson of Waco, J. W. Gardner of Dallas and Dock Roberts of Houston. This date and place was selected because of the fact that the general passenger agents of the Texas railroads will meet in Houston on Thursday and the railroad committee of the league has an appointment with the railroad men for the discussion of baseball rates during the league season. President Allen appointed Messrs. Roberts, Davidson and Iglehart on the committee to confer with the railroad passenger agents.

MURRAY ADDRESSES CITIZENS OF ADA

FAYORS WILSON FOR PRESIDENT AND THINKS SEVERAL RE-
FORMS ARE BADLY NEEDED.

In spite of the cold weather Saturday evening, forty-eight citizens turned out to hear W. H. Murray speak on the issues of the day. Murray made a very temperate speech, devoting most of his attention to this line, and at times branching out into an argument for Wilson as a presidential candidate. He had no word of criticism for Champ Clark, but insisted that there is no one who can handle the House as he does, and that it would be a calamity, indeed, for him to be succeeded by a reactionary like Underwood, who is next in line for the speakership. It was his opinion that Clark had better remain where he is until some needed progressive legislation is passed, and then he may have his turn at the presidency.

At the outset of his address Mr. Murray stated that owing to distrust of the republican party, there was never a time when democratic prospects were brighter, and that there should certainly be no mistake made in selecting the nominee.

He next took up what he considers the five cardinal points of the campaigns of the future for of course it would be impossible to realize all of them at one time. These five are as follows: tariff revision; prohibition of gambling in crop futures; currency and banking reform; prohibition of interference of national government with the police powers of states in dealing with interstate commerce; reform of the federal judiciary. He considered the last issue the most important of the list and discussed it at some length. He does not agree with either Owen or Haskell in this matter. Owen stands for the recall, but in view of the difficulty, amounting almost to impossibility, of amending the constitution, Murray thinks the scheme impracticable. Nor does he favor Haskell's idea of electing them by direct vote. He pointed out the fact that the power to regulate their own elections is about the only safeguard the states have left, and that since it would be impossible to elect federal judges except under federal supervision, the states would likely have their grandfather clauses and other safeguards swept aside. He insisted that no one deserves to be censured for criticizing the supreme court least of all a republican, for the republican party was born criticizing the court because of the Dred Scott decision. Murray called attention to the manner in which federal courts have arrogated to themselves powers they were not intended to exercise. He thought matters would be greatly improved if the judges were appointed for only a term of years.

His idea about bank reform was to take away from national banks the power of issuing notes, and adopt a guaranty law similar to that of Oklahoma. Since their circulation is based on bonds of the government, he argued that the big banks will as in 1893 force a panic when short of bonds, in order that the government will be compelled to issue more. He said that the remedy for this is to place in the presidential chair a man big and brave enough to defy the money trust and when they attempt to launch another panic, issue enough greenbacks to take up what bonds are already outstanding instead of issuing more.

Regarding the present system of dealing in futures, he favored and insisted that a bill forbidding such dealings should be passed and he referred to the fight made by Congressman Hatch of Missouri, who was defeated for re-election by the money poured into his district by the interests.

In speaking of Wilson, Murray dealt with some of the criticism that has been offered against him. He admired his courage in the Harvey matter, and as being a school teacher, referred to Gen. Lee, who at the close of the war accepted a position as president of a small school at $1,500 because he could be of more service there than elsewhere. He referred to the fact that President Cleveland himself, after the expiration of his second term, accepted a professorship under Wilson at Princeton.

Wilson had shown great courage in his position as president of the university in refusing to accept money that was offered from improper motives. Wilson had also done much since becoming governor by smashing the Smith machine in New Jersey. Murray longed for the same condition to exist as did before the civil war when brains, education and faithfulness were the essential qualifications of a presidential nominee, and in Wilson he considered that these qualities existed in large degree.

He could not forbear to hit the Aikensites a jolt before closing. He declared that the enabling act sets apart 300,000 acres of land for the support of the three normals already established and that might afterwards be created, and 50,000 for the preparatory school at Tonkawa. The three schools on the west side and the Tonkawa school, then, cannot be abolished. If the others are swept out it will be only a few years until the men back of the movement will try to have them re-established at Oklahoma City, and Murray did not think a town with the road houses that abound there can be considered a very desirable place for state schools. As for having too many schools, he referred to the fact that even the Chickasaw Nation with only 6,000 inhabitants, not only maintained a public school system, but also four seminaries.

He was not very favorably impressed with the loose discipline in force at the university, being especially out of sympathy with the manner of permitting students of the university to give balls in Oklahoma City.

Negro Lynched in Georgia.

Macon, Ga., Feb. 4.—Charles Powell, a negro, who assaulted and robbed a young white woman here last night, was taken from officers and lynched by a mob early today.

The lynching took place in the yards of the Georgia, Southern and Florida Railroad, four miles from Macon, where the officers, hoping to outwit the mob, had gone with their prisoner to take a train for Atlanta. Powell was tied to a telegraph pole and hundreds of bullets fired into his body.

The crime with which the negro was charged was committed about 11 o'clock last night while the young woman was on her way home from work in the downtown district. She was seized by Powell, dragged down an embankment and assaulted.

Two policemen, summoned by two young men who had heard the young woman's cries, arrived on the scene just as the negro made his way up the embankment with his victim's purse in his hand.

The officers landed their man in jail, but when news of the gathering of a mob was received the negro was secretly taken out of a back door with the intention of hurrying him to Atlanta for safekeeping. The two officers guarding him had stopped in the railroad yard waiting for a train when they were found by the mob.

Today at noon a crowd of between 200 and 400 men gathered near an undertaking establishment where the body of Powell had been placed, took the body and put it in a wagon, carried it to the heart of the negro section of the city and burned it. Oil was poured over cross ties and the negro's body and his pyre was of no small dimensions. It was all done so quietly that the authorities knew nothing of it until the torch was applied. The coroner held an inquest. The verdict placed blame on "parties unknown."

Tonight all was quiet and officers stated no further trouble was feared.

One Day to Build Model Road.

Lawton, Ok., Feb. 4.—Every bank in Lawton has responded to the call of the City Commissioners regarding the observance of Feb. 6 as a holiday and presidents, cashiers, tellers and bookkeepers will work side by side on the three miles of model road to be built in one day connecting Fort Sill and Lawton. One thousand business men have volunteered to work on the road that day.

Notice.

The F. U. of A. will meet Wednesday 7th at 7:30 p. m. All members urged to attend.

THERMOMETER REGISTERED 6 DEGREES ABOVE ZERO

The surprise blizzard of Saturday developed into the real thing during the night. The wind blew with such velocity that one was inclined to believe that the temperature was well below zero. However, the official thermometer registered 6 degrees above, which was low enough to suit any one who had a fancy for cold weather.

SAME WITH ADA.

It turns out that the folks who are pondering that momentous question: "Whither Are We Drifting?" will never find out. We are not drifting. We are using the Australian crawl stroke upstream.—Wichita Eagle.

The Morning Star, which has been published in Ardmore for the past eight months, has turned its toes to the daisies, and Ardmore is again a one paper town. In fact, one daily is all a town the size of Ardmore can or should try to support, but some other fellow, who longs to see his name at the masthead of a paper, will probably give it a try out one of these days.

A WISE SUGGESTION.

Since the Shawnee News and Herald have been combined and the Ada News has absorbed the Ada Enterprise, the two cities, which by the way are among the best of the size in the state are now provided with but one newspaper office apiece, in each case a daily and weekly being published from the one office. In as much as the papers in both of these cities are democratic in politics, it would seem to us that the republicans are losing a good opportunity by failing to maintain a good weekly at least in each place.—Purcell Republic.

A wise suggestion all right. The

However, as no one but the Western Newspaper Union and the express company gets anything out of the deal, we will hardly be taken in by such flattering offers. We have used some plate in connection with the presidential campaign, but draw the line at that. If a candidate has any money to pay for advertising, the newspapers and not the plate makers should have the benefit. Furthermore, papers using ready print should see that none of this dope is run on the patent side, for in that case the other fellow gets the money, while he gets nothing.

Chinese Republic Assured.

Pekin, Feb. 5.—The Empress Dowager issued an edict this afternoon instructing Premier Yuan Shi Kai to establish a Republic in co-operation with the Southern Republicans. The edict has not yet been published and it is expected that it will be kept more or less secret so far as the public is concerned until arrangements in the South have been completed.

Yuan Shi Kai is now endeavoring to persuade the Nanking government to hand over the control of affairs to enable him to carry on the administration of the whole empire until the national convention appoints a permanent government and adopts a constitution. It is doubted here that the republicans in Nanking will consent to this.

It is believed the only solution possible is the creation of two provisional governments and the continuance of temporary control. Yuan is opposed to the transfer of the capital to Nanking, but there appears to be a close understanding between the imperial Premier and the republicans, who have again offered him the presidency.

The fact that the abdication of the throne has been decided upon is not known to the general public in Peking and the skillful manner in which the transition is being effected leaves small apprehension of disturbances.

Many of the imperial Princes are leaving Peking. Prince Kung, leader of the Mongolian anti-abdicationists, and Prince Su of the Board of Dependencies have gone to Manchuria.

Gen. Chao Erh Shun, Viceroy of Manchuria, has espoused the republic, but Chang Chou Lin, commandant of troops, is irreconcilable.

No Appeal in Liquor Case Yet.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 3.—Letters from St. Louis are to the effect that no appeal has been taken to the supreme court in the case of the Ft. Smith liquor firm seeking to have liquors brought in taken into Indian Territory by interstate commerce. The time for perfecting an appeal expires the latter part of April. The circuit court held that liquors could not be taken into what was formerly Indian Territory.

The name of J. W. Westbrook appears in the announcement column of the News today. He is the first to declare himself for this office, and there will be no monkey business about his campaign, either. If any one beats him he will at least know that he had something of a race.

A more extended mention of Mr. Westbrook's candidacy will appear later.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN

Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physies May Cause Distressing Complaints.

You can not be over careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should be used. Ordinary pills, cathartics, and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They sometimes cause griping, nausea, and distressing after-effects, and may actually injure the health, thus establishing a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as a safe and dependable remedy for constipation and associated bowel disorders. We have such faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Rexall Orderlies not only relieve constipation, but help to remove the cause of this ailment. They also frequently overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

There is really, in our opinion, no similar medicine so good as Rexall Orderlies for the purpose to which it is directed, especially for children, aged and delicate persons. They are prepared in tablet form and in two sizes of packages, 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

HASKELL MAKES OPENING SPEECH OF CAMPAIGN

Stigler, Ok., Feb. 3.—Here in the county seat of a county named in his honor, where nearly five years ago he made the first speech in his campaign for democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma, ex-Gov. Haskell tonight made his first speech in his campaign for the United States senatorship.

Haskell county had been preparing for the event for four days. Even a greater reception than that tendered the gubernatorial candidate five years ago was planned for today. Prominent democrats and many of the governor's warm republican friends came to hear his speech.

During the day the names of over 1,200 democrats were affixed to petitions to the state election board, petitioning that board to place the name of C. N. Haskell on the primary ballots.

Not once in his speech did Mr. Haskell mention the name of Senator Owen, whose seat he will contest.

The issues of 1912 was the subject on which Mr. Haskell was scheduled to speak. In his discussion of the issues he laid the planks of the platform on which he will make his race. Nomination of senators by direct primary, the removal of the lower federal courts from the province of presidential appointment, the reclamation and assertion of states rights, the development of state water ways, downward revision of the tariff and the preservation of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indian Nation tax rights under the provisions of the Atoka agreement are the principal planks in the platform on which Mr. Haskell will stand.

The Frisco is advertising a big excursion from points in the northern states to the coast country of Texas, prospective home seekers being the ones the road is after more especially. On the return, the train will stop at a number of town in Oklahoma in order that the excursionists may also get a glimpse of this section.

The train will arrive at Ada at 10:05 o'clock on the morning of March 4, and will remain 30 minutes. Although that is not long, it is sufficient to give many a man a fair idea of Ada and the opportunities it offers to settlers. It is now up to the town to give them this opportunity.

A Two Headed Child.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 5.—The embryological department of the Harvard Medical school is greatly interested in the birth of a baby with two distinct heads to Mrs. Karnow of Cambridge. The baby was born Thursday. So far both mother and child are doing well. Dr. Thomas H. Heaton who attended the mother and child believes the baby will live. Both heads are well formed, although the normal head has better defined features than the extra one. They face in opposite directions.

The hair on the extra head is already grown and a very fine hair covers part of the features. The heads are on one neck although the extra head is lower than the normal one. Except for the twin heads the baby is normal and well formed and not as delicate as are normal children. Mr. and Mrs. Karnow have had four other children, two of them boys. The other children have been normal, healthy and not remarkable.

John Crawford Mentioned.

In summing up the political situation in the democratic camp, the Oklahoma City Times has the following to say in regard to the chairmanship of the state committee:

"Although Chairman Fred Branson was quoted recently as saying that he would not quit his job as state chairman until he got good and ready, the impression still prevails that a new chairman will be on the job after the state convention.

"T. C. Harrell of Wagoner and Representative John Crawford of Ada are the two men most prominently mentioned for the place. It is understood that friends of Justice Bob Williams, in view of his candidacy for governor, will insist that the chairman be an east side man. Politics and candidates for 1914 are likely to occupy a prominent place in the convention, and to cut almost as much figure as those directly affecting this year's campaign."

It is true that now and then some sectional spirit appears in northern localities, but it is in no sense as general as it was 30 or 40 years ago. RECORD IN CANNED SALMON Present Has Been Best Year Yet Experienced by Packers—Total Pack Is 5,850,000 Cases.

Seattle, Wash.—The present has been the best year the canned salmon industry has ever known. The pack is nearly 750,000 cases larger than ever put up in any previous year; the prices have been the highest, more men and capital have been employed, a greater number of canneries have been operated, there has been sufficient demand from all parts of the world to absorb practically all the record-breaking pack, and with one exception there have been no losses to either salmon or canneries, as has often been the case in former years.

The total pack of canned salmon this year for Alaska, British Columbia, Puget sound, Gray's Harbor and the Columbia river is estimated at 5,850,000 cases. This pack is 600,000 cases more than in any previous year in the history of the salmon industry.

Packers estimate the Alaska pack at 3,000,000 cases; Puget Sound, 1,350,000 cases; Columbia river, 500,000 cases; British Columbia, 750,000 cases; outside points, 250,000 cases.

One of the features, in fact the dominant feature of the season's operations, has been the huge pack of pink salmon. The pack of "pinks" this year is estimated at 2,500,000 cases, compared with 1,400,000 cases, the largest previous pack of this kind of fish. All but between 150,000 and 200,000 cases of this large amount of pink or cheap fish has been sold. In as much as next year the run of pink salmon should be light, packers who have this king of salmon are not worrying about having to carry a small stock over.

Salmon packers declare that no less than $2,000,000 will have been paid out in Seattle during 1911 by packers for supplies, labor, equipment, wages, freights and otherwise.

The shipments of canned salmon by water from Puget Sound during October were the largest ever sent out during any one month. Figures compiled by the collector of customs at Port Townsend show that the shipments for the month aggregated 3,866,450 pounds, valued at $413,650. The exports during the same month last year aggregated but 1,189,696 pounds, and in 1909 only 884,474 pounds.

LITTLE STROLL OF SEA LION

Amphibian Escapes From Chicago Theater and Flips Toward Lake, Followed by Admiring Crowd.

Chicago.—A sea lion whose daily task is to balance a ball on its nose the other night decided that it was tired of being a slave. So it flopped through a pane of glass in the rear of the Wilson theater and down into the alley, sniffed the air, felt the snow and pointed its nose toward Lake Michigan.

A score of men, women and children sighted the runaway and followed it, not quite certain whether it represented some new form of entertainment or was dangerous.

While the chase was on, with Lake Michigan several blocks away, Michael Liczki, manager of the theater, began to wonder what had become of his prize attraction.

He hurried behind the scenes and found a despairing group of men who had not the slightest idea what had befallen the lion. Then some one observed the broken window and connected it, Sherlock Holmes fashion, with the missing attraction. Several men joined the search simultaneously.

The result was that the lion was sighted steaming into Hazel avenue at the rate of 15 knots an hour, without showing tail lights or a license tag. It was promptly seized and returned to the theater. There the sea lion slowly ambled out on the stage and disconsolately resumed its forsaken duty of balancing a ball on its nose.

GOOD MORNING IN A COURT

Amusing and Peculiar Mix-Up Happens in Chicago When Foreigner Confronts Municipal Judge.

Chicago.—"What is your name?" asked Municipal Judge Dolan of a tall black mustached Italian arraigned before him on a charge of disorderly conduct the other day.

"Goodmornings," replied the alien. "Good morning," returned the judge with a smile. "But I want to know your name."

"Goodmornings," again came the reply.

"Is that all the English you know?" the judge asked.

"Goodmornings, my name," replied the prisoner. "Jim Goodmornings, they call me in this country."

"All right, Jim Goodmornings," the court said. "I thought you were just trying to be polite to me. You are discharged. Good morning."

Carries Home With Him.

New York.—Nathaniel Pearce, a carpenter, carries with him his home, a tool house, wherever he goes, and the other day his manner of living nearly brought him into court on a charge of illegal registration. Pearce registered from 640 Fifth avenue, the home of H. C. Frick, the steel millionaire. "I live in this tool house," said Pearce. "I take it with me on every job I get." A warrant for Pearce's arrest, asked by the police, was refused.

Had Living Coming.

New York.—"I had to live some place, so I went to the Waldorf," explained Alfred Attwater, ex-grocer clerk of Pittsfield, Mass., when arrested for ignoring a bill for $146.10 for three days at the hotel.

BOOKS FOR BLIND CHEAPER

New Method of Printing, Discovered in France, Has Lowered the Cost Materially.

Books for the blind are to be very much cheaper because of a new method of printing them discovered in France, and free libraries for the blind are to be established throughout the provinces of France. This information comes here from the Paris correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association, who writes:

"Books with raised letters used by the blind are generally very expensive. They have, up to the present time, been of two distinct types: First, those which were stereotyped, the manufacturing process being so expensive that frequent printing of new books is made almost impossible; second, those written by hand by some blind person whose good will does not prevent him from making frequent inaccuracies, and who can make but one copy at a time, and that only slowly."

"Now M. Ernest Vaughn, the director of Hospice des Quinze-Vingts, has devised a press for printing books for the blind by means of which a text of irreproachable exactness can be obtained and at a cost much less than that of either the stereotyped or the hand-written books. To place this system on the market he has founded the Societe Philanthropique d'Impressions pour les Aveugles, of which the celebrated writer, Anatole France, member of the Academie Francaise, is president."—New York Times.

SHE HAD KEPT NOTHING BACK

Young Lady With Seven Transfers Explains Deficiency to Street Car Conductor.

Seven bright young girls, each in a new gown and all in the highest spirits, boarded a street car in Philadelphia. The announced intention of all was to transfer at a certain junction, and to this end the girl in the red hat, who appeared to be the leader of the expedition, got seven transfers. But the other six changed their minds before they got to the transfer point and declared themselves in favor of a shopping tour. Only the girl with the red hat stuck to the original plan and changed cars at the junction mentioned. To the conductor who came to take her fare she handed the bunch of transfers—the original seven.

The conductor looked at her, and on each side of her, and all around her. She was oblivious. Then he asked: "Where are the others?"

The girl looked startled and confused for an instant, and then she said, with cold dignity: "Those are all the transfer man gave me."

Latest German Fad.

Germany's latest fad seems to be the "Undosabad," destroyed by a Berlin engineer, and claimed to be the first transportable covered swimming path which affords a practical substitute for the usual expensive buildings. The swimming basin is inexpensive and may be easily transported to any convenient location. The water supply may be obtained from a lake, river, springs, or from the town water works, as the use of the filtra minimizes the amount of fresh water necessary and so reduces the number of germs that the water is purer than when freshly introduced. The bath is sheltered by a canvas roof and furnished with a motor so that the air and water can be warmed and the temperature regulated. The motor's surplus power can also be utilized in generating waves of three feet or less in height, thus destroying all germs that remain, and add to the attraction by simulating the ocean.

Artificial Wood.

Louis Carre, in England, has invented a process for the artificial production of wood from straw or dried grass. It is proposed to use the wood, not only in the manufacture of matches, for which purpose it is said to be cheaper than natural wood. The straw is passed through crushing rolls and then through cylindrical cutters, which divide it into strips. Afterward, supplied with an adhesive, the strips, enclosed on top and bottom with layers of paper, are passed between other rolls, and through linked moulds in the form of a chain, where they are subjected to pressure and heat, from which they issue in the form of round splints, which are then cut into the proper length for matches.—Scientific American.

Parent Vine of All Grapes.

Hugo Lilienthal, who believes that he has discovered the parent vine of all grapes in the world—the vine which produced the enormous clusters of grapes found by the spies of Moses on their first entrance into the Holy Land—is superintendent of parks in Berkeley, California. The specimen was found by him in Palestine in 1884. Claim is made that the improved plants now produce bunches of grapes 30 inches long. Lilienthal has not grown the plant in Berkeley, but declares that when it is distributed it will be one of the wonders of the world and will treble the grape-growing capacity of the country.

SEVENTEEN OKLAHOMA CITIES HAVE CARNEGIE LIBRARIES

Oklahoma has apparently had no scruples in regard to "tainted money" in connection with the library donations offered by Andrew Carnegie. On the contrary the state rather prides itself on having gotten its full share of the ironmaster's benefactions. Altogether seventeen Oklahoma cities and towns have so far been the recipients of Carnegie library donations, totaling nearly $350,000 and ranging in amount from $6,500 to $63,000.

Oklahoma City, as the metropolis of the state, naturally has the most expensive building. Its original cost was $38,000 and $25,000 more was later given by Mr. Carnegie for an addition. Muskogee's new library, recently completed, cost in the neighborhood of $45,000 and Tulsa has been promised a donation of $35,000 which will be put into use as soon as the site can finally be agreed upon.

Guthrie, Enid and Shawnee have $25,000 buildings, with Chickasha, El Reno, Ardmore, Perry, Bartlesville, Hobart and Cordell ranging down through smaller amounts to $6,500 at Ponca City, the smallest donation on the list. Cordell, the first town west of the Rock Island railroad to get a Carnegie library, has just completed a $10,000 building and Hobart has let the contract for one of similar cost. Word has been received from Mr. Carnegie by Mrs. Tom Hope of Ada, one of the most prominent club women of that city, that he is willing to make a donation for Ada if the city will make the usual agreements in regard to maintenance, and action is expected by the city in the near future.

The state university at Norman has one of the first Carnegie libraries in Oklahoma and is the only one of the state schools which has gotten a library building from that source, although the one at Tahlequah, where the Northeastern state normal school is located, is available for use by the students of that school.

The Carnegie donations in many places have proven to be trouble breeders and Oklahoma has not been wholly an exception in that respect. The library in Oklahoma City was a storm center for several years on account of dissensions in the library board, and the $25,000 addition to the building was delayed for many months by reason of the troubles of the board. The question of location has caused trouble in other places, and the library at Perry is now in litigation by reason of the action of the city council in turning a part of the building into a police court room and council chamber, in alleged violation of the agreement made when the building was erected.

The Oklahoma State Library association, which includes libraries and library workers from all of those classes of libraries, is a flourishing organization. It holds its annual meeting at Enid in May. Miss Edith Allen Phelps, librarian of the Carnegie library of Oklahoma City, is probably the moving spirit of that organization. She is a former St. Louis girl and a granddaughter of John S. Phelps, who was governor of Missouri from 1877 to 1881. Her father, John E. Phelps, was active in the St. Louis chapter of the Loyal Legion and served as department command of the G. A. R. for the department of Missouri. Miss Phelps was for a number of years connected with the library of the University of Missouri at Columbia.—Oklahoma City Times.

Married.

This afternoon W. J. Reid and Mrs. Sarah Phillips, both of Loco, Stephens county, were united in marriage at the office of the county judge, Justice H. J. Brown officiating.

E. A. Myers Thursday sold his paper hanging and painting business to J. K. Bergstresser of Ada. Mr. Myers will remain in Stratford for a couple of months as he has several contracts that he will finish. Mr. Bergstresser is well known to a number of our citizens and is a first class painter and paper hanger and all work entrusted to him will receive his careful attention. He will move his family here from Ada in the near future.—Stratford Tribune.

CAUDILL ALWAYS GETS SEARCH WARRANTS

Oklahoma City, Feb. 5.—The state enforcement department has never claimed that it has the right to search premises of any kind without a search warrant, and as a matter of fact I have always secured such a warrant before making a search, said State Enforcement Officer W. J. Caudill, Friday, in reference to an opinion rendered to Governor Cruce by Attorney General West, in which it was held that a search warrant is necessary.

"When the occupant of any building is unwilling to have the premises searched, I always leave a guard and proceed immediately to secure a warrant, as the refusal indicates to me that there is liquor about the place," he continued.

In relation to the station at Ada, which was searched by the enforcement officer, and over which a question arose, Mr. Caudill said that he had at first asked the agent to look for liquor, and that the request had been denied until the Katy railroad company had been communicated with. Instead, a lawyer at Muskogee was called over long distance telephone, and he said that the search could not proceed. The agent, however, appeared willing finally to allow the officers to look through the place, provided they first secured a search warrant, and this was done, in accordance, Mr. Caudill stated, with his regular practice.

Prof. J. A. Lemon returned from Sulphur this morning and is now engaged in making a final canvass of the citizens to ascertain whether they are really enough interested in the matter to justify him to open a commercial college or not. He is a man well fitted for the work, and the success he has made at Sulphur demonstrates his ability to handle a school as it should be.
